

GPSA SPONSORSHIP

A strategic partnership that provides unparalleled access to Australia's current & future General Practitioners

General Practice Supervision Australia (GPSA) is the national peak body for supervision, supporting GP supervisors and training practices across Australia. With over 9,000 members, our mission is to enhance medical education and promote high-quality healthcare through effective supervision.

We provide professional development, advocacy, and community engagement. Become a valued partner of GPSA and help us support the vital work of GP supervisors across Australia.

Established communication channels make it easy for your brand to connect

GPSA's established communication channels and resources provide a unique opportunity for visibility and engagement within the current - and future - healthcare sector.

Partnering with GPSA puts your organisation in front of highly engaged, general practice supervisors and training practice teams across the country. Our trusted reputation and extensive national reach provide a strategic opportunity to align your brand with the development of Australia's next generation of GPs.
